MENTALITY TYPE

Name of mentality: INDIVIDUALIST

In society

Strong points

- Perceives life as self-expression
- Doesn't like to execute commands
- Considers himself "special, not like others"
- Has a sense of humor, loyal to others

- ✓ the ability to achieve whatever he wants
- ✓ possessor of high vital energy
- ✓ pedant and super planner

At home

Weak points

- Holds a contradiction: can be both timid and self-confident
- Knows his own worth, sensitive to approval and criticism
- Needs freedom of action, loves solitude

- ✓ optimism requires outer support
- ✓ lack of fortune
- ✓ tendency to idealize people and reality

LEADERSHIP

Personal Leadership assessment

Player's potential

✓ Player has leadership potential. This indicates a presence of internal reserves and hidden opportunities for further development of leadership skills

Team Playing style

Leadership

The potential of team interaction is high, but the Player's need for communication appears unevenly - there are periods of "spikes" and "falls". But in any case, it's an excellent communicator and team player.

This type of character is popular in society. Comfortable, capable of being a conformist or a strong leader depending upon situation. Uses conflict and manipulation in extreme case only. Such people are loved for their openness. Not inclined to sort things out.

SPEED & PACE

The energy reserve is higher than normal, but it appears inconsistently. Interval loads are preferred. Good predisposition to cardio activity. The main advantage is the ability for high-speed jerks.

Cardio can be considered as TALENT

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Stamina and physical capabilities have a margin of safety. The player is able to recover quickly, but overloads are not desirable. Interval training is recommended for best results. With power loads, the number of approaches and the weight should be limited.

Physical activity can not be considered as an talent but as perspective POTENTIAL

FOOTBALL TECHNIQUE

Special inborn abilities to perform football techniques were not found. The ability to keep the ball under control during the game is completely dependent on personal efforts and training of the Player.

Football technique can not be considered as an talent. Potential is not identified

STRATEGY

The player has the most common type of thinking - associative. The innate ability to anticipate the game a few steps ahead is not high.

A high potential for "sportive aggression" was found. This is an additional opportunity for attacking style of football player

Strategy can not be considered as an talent. Potential is not identified

TACTICS

Tactically, the Player is universal. Able to fulfill the coach's instructions and act independently equally well. Good sense of positioning and creating game combinations. Prefers to build tactical combinations rather than act alone.

✔ Tactics can not be considered as TALENT but as perspective POTENTIAL

SPECIAL TALENTS

The RATIONAL player. Usually plays according to the established rules and schemes until the best position or playing moment to be seen. Acts meaningfully. Prefers accurate and targeted passes, which increases the team's attacking chances.

✔ Rationality is the special additional football talent
